

What are yours and your customers biggest concern with using past lances/wands?

1. Do you have a problem with the longevity of common lances/wands?
 - a. Dig Pig's, patent pending design, will outlast any other lance/wand on the market.
 - b. For the Lightweight Lance/Wand, Dig Pig uses a seamless T6 6061 Schd-80 Aluminum with an anodized finish with 303 Stainless Steel machined ends, where most of their competitors use a Schd-40 non-T6.
 - c. For the HG Lance/Wand, Dig Pig uses a Schd-80 Stainless Steel tubing with 303 Stainless Steel machined ends for a strength like no other.
2. Have you had a problem with nozzles breaking off aluminum lances/wands over time?
 - a. This problem will not exist with the Titan Series
 - b. Dig Pig Products manufactures lance/wand ends with 303 Stainless Steel to prevent nozzles breaking off and causing down time.
 - c. Steel lances/wands, overtime, will rust and lose strength, whereas Dig Pig's full Stainless-Steel Titans will never rust or break off at the thread point.
3. Do you have problems with your lances/wands rusting/corroding?
 - a. The Dig Pig Titan Series will not rust/corrode, keeping your nozzles from plugging up with debris.
4. Do your techs typically use your lances/wands as pry bars?
 - a. The Titan lances/wands are stronger and can handle more prying and operational roughness than any other lance/wand on the market.
5. Unable to purchase proper lengths of lances/wands?
 - a. For the first time, Dig Pig Products has introduced 5 different lengths of lances/wands to accommodate all types of situations.
 - b. The Titans can be purchased in 3', 4', 5', 6', & 7' lengths, all which work as extensions or digging lances/wands for all different applications.
6. Do Titan lances/wands fit all my current quick couplers and nozzles?
 - a. All Dig Pig Titan Series lances/wands are all ½ NPT which will fit on all ½" quick couplers and nozzles, no need to change anything else.

7. Which Titan is best for me?

- a. Both Titan series are tougher than any other lance/wand on the market but if you're looking for strength and like the lightness, then the light weight is the one for you.
- b. If you like an even tougher lance/wand, then the HD Titan will allow you to be rough and aggressive even more.

DID YOU KNOW!!**

Dig Pig Titans typically last 6 times longer than any other lance/wand on the market?
ALSO, the Lightweight Titans can be special ordered in 4 different colors? Black, Silver, Blue and Red